STEBER
INTERNATIONAL

Boats with the name Steber on the side, are something very special. They are considered one of the most desirable Australian built vessels on the water.

In the early years (57 years ago) the Steber family built wooden boats in the family backyard factory. Some 30 years later the family extended their operations and relocated the headquarters to Taree, and began specialising in commercial vessels, and sports cruisers. In this modern era, Stebercraft has an outstanding reputation for building vessels of superb quality, excellent designs and refinements, which meet customer demands for individual styling.

The market has never been flooded with hundreds, each cruiser is hand built for each client.

The 4380 is the latest achievement for Stebercraft, which since the 1950's has contributed to the transformation of Australian boating from a cottage industry to an outstanding world-class industry.

Steber International (Industrial Composites and Export division) has consistently accessed the immense progress made in the fibreglass and composite technologies to enhance core material, sandwich construction techniques, and design challenges.

It's very easy to show you in a glossy brochure, pretty pictures of a pretty boat, elegant curves, carefully set out engine room, some special features, and a more than generous list of specifications for the standard vessel, but the true test comes once you get behind the helm and experience the Steber 4380 on the water....we'd like you to make your own evaluation.

Welcome to the new Steber 4380, and thank you for your interest in the Stebercraft collection of Sports and Motor Cruisers.
